(54) Conveyor with a plurality of flights and boxing system using such conveyor

(57) A conveyor (58) includes first (5-1,5-2) and second (5'-1,5'-2) groups of flights which are spaced along the conveying direction to provide spaces sufficient to hold packs (1) therein. The flights in each group are divided into first (5-1,5'-1) and second (5-2,5'-2) sets. The first and second groups of flights are mounted to first (18a,18b) and second (21a,21b) conveyor chain pairs, respectively, and moved through pack loading

(43) and unloading (19) stations. Stepping motors (8a,8b) drive the first and second chain pairs independently. A controller (27) causes a set of flights after being loaded or unloaded to be forwarded to the unloading or loading station at a speed higher than the speed at which the sets move through the loading station.
